

2021 Rosé Wine | Spring Mountain, Napa Valley

Winemaker's Comments

When we committed to making rosé a part of our annual portfolio of wines we wanted to ensure we were making a wine true to style with the very best rosé wines. Knowing we would often be driven by Cabernet Sauvignon as the dominant varietal in the blend, we took the approach of being very delicate in order to bring out the perfume of aromatics, and highlight the acidity we naturally get growing fruit at high elevation.

We also knew the blend would change from year to year, as making rosé using the traditional “saignée method” doesn’t allow as much consistency on quantity. As the decisions to “bleed” juice from the tank post-processing vary by vintage, by vineyard, the resulting lots of fruit that go into our rosé are ultimately decided upon when the fruit arrives in the winery.

The 2021 Correlation Wine Co. Rosé follows a lineup of previous vintages driven by Cabernet Sauvignon, with the additions of 10% Petit Verdot, and 2% Cabernet Franc this year. The color is beautiful - a very delicate, pale rose, reminiscent of a great Provencal rosé. As with previous vintages, this wine is very explosive aromatically. Notes of framboise, pineberry, rose and jasmine flower welcome the nose, with a fresh and mineral focused core, this wine jumps from the glass, but remains elegant and graceful. On the palate, the wine sings of fresh red fruits, with a bright acid lift, framed with a delicate creamy texture, and medium-long finish.

This wine hits every mark we would want and we're proud to see it bear the Correlation Wine Co. name!
